NPS STUDENT DIES OF INJURIES AFTER RUGBY MATCH

A Navy Lieutenant in the Naval Engineering curriculum, died Sunday morning at San Francisco General Hospital after sustaining head injuries during a rugby match.

Glen S. Campbell, 28, was injured at 10 a.m. Saturday morning during the second half of the match in San Francisco.

After the opposing team received a penalty, Lt. Campbell was given the ball to run. After running several yards and eluding tacklers, he was tackled by at least one member of the opposition and took the brunt of the hit in the chest and stomach. At some point in the play, Lt. Campbell received a head injury. He was taken to the hospital where he received cranial surgery to relieve the pressure on his brain. He died at 6:15 a.m., about 12 hours after surgery.

Lt. Campbell, a new student here, arrived in Monterey last month. His previous duty station was the USS Worden, homeported in Pearl Harbor, HI.

A native of Haines, Ak, he was a 1987 graduate of the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

Campbell is survived by his father Dale and mother Barbara of Haines, Ak., his brother George of Lake Jackson, Tx. and his fiancé Sarah-Laisne Padgett.

An investigation into the exact cause of the accident is currently being conducted.

For information concerning memorial services contact the Chaplain's office at ext. 2241.

HOLOCAUST DAYS OF REMEMBRANCE

The Holocaust baffles the imagination. One recent attempt to comprehend its evil is from a contemporary psychiatrist and writer.

"One approaches the task of writing about the Holocaust knowing that it is virtually impossible to convey the experience, to find words or concepts for the extremity of its horror. We are faced with the paradox of making an effort to understand, in terms of human feeling, the most antihuman event in human history. The European Holocaust after all was invented by, and consumed, human beings. Its very extremity has something to teach us about our more ordinary confrontations with death and violence." -- Robert Jay Lifton.

HOSPICE HOUSE NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

Hospice of the Central Coast, a non-profit organization committed to providing quality of life care to people facing life threatening illnesses, is opening a new patient care facility in October of 1993.

The new Hospice House is currently under construction in the Del Monte forest area, only two miles from the La Mesa Housing area. The facility will have 28 beds, including a four bed pediatric unit, according to Lisa Muller, Hospice volunteer coordinator.

"There will be a huge need for new volunteers at the Hospice House," she said.

"Hospice volunteers play a key role in fulfilling the Hospice mission of providing a total support system for patients and their families.

There are many volunteer opportunities available at the new facility: human support to patients and families, pediatric support, reception, and clerical positions. Volunteers are trained to understand the problems and emotions that are a part of facing illness, to offer support and reassurance, and to be a good listener.

"Volunteering for Hospice is a truly rewarding experience, and the need for new volunteers is great," said Muller. The next training session begins on May 4, and runs Tuesday and Thursday evenings through May 25. Certain positions require less training time.

Call the Hospice Resource Center at 649-1772 for more information.

NAVY MEMORIAL LOG FATHER'S DAY GIFT

Dear old Dad, or some grandfather before him, proudly served in the U.S. Navy, and just for serving, a national monument has been built for him in Washington, including a place to record his name for generations of Americans to see. The U.S. Navy Memorial honors all who have served in the Navy, and there are more than 200,000 records in its high-tech, interactive video Navy Memorial Log of active, retired and former bluejackets and officers, living or dead.

Displayed in user-friendly video consoles in the Log Room of the Navy Memorial's Visitors Center, each log record includes the name, date and place of birth, period of naval service and highest rate or rank held. The $25 tax deductible contribution requested for enrollment helps defray cost of building and operating the Memorial and Visitors Center.

For Father's Day gifts, the Memorial will acknowledge enrollments with a special greeting card and Log registration forms for presentation to the father being honored. The cards will be sent in time for Father's Day for requests received by June 1. For requests received after that date, delivery by Father's Day, June 20, is not assured.
